

ELIOT NOT TO ACCEPT PLACE

Reported That Ambassadorship To Great Britain Has Been Refused By Noted Educator.

PAYNE BILL NOT TO BE VOTED ON YET

Speaker Cannon States That He Does Not Know When It Will Come Up; End Of The Present Debate Is Not In Sight.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, D. C., April 1.—It was stated officially today that Charles W. Eliot, late president of Harvard university, on receiving from President Taft the offer of the ambassadorship to Great Britain, expressed his appreciation of the honor and the belief that he would be unable to accept the post.

Little interest was shown in the general debate on the tariff this morning when it was learned that the plan to shut off the general debate had been abandoned by the republican leaders. There was, however, a slight increase in attendance when the house convened and the debate was resumed.

ADULTERATION WAS VIVIDLY DESCRIBED

Prominent Barley Buyer Says Breweries Are Not Using the Pure Grain in Manufacture. [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., April 1.—J. H. Mauff of Chicago, one of the largest barley buyers in the United States, started the assembly committee on public health yesterday while speaking on the program bill to compel the labeling of liquors as to their contents, by saying that not one-seventh as much barley is now used in making beer as was formerly needed. He pointed to a large sack on the table and added that the large manufacturers in beer were now adulterating the product, that the interest by the farmer in growing barley had fallen off, and unless the flour interests used fact, the localities formerly devoted to barley, supporting "wet" districts would go dry. In the grip to which he kept pointing were petitions from the principal barley growing sections of the United States favoring the passage of bills by the various states and by congress compelling the true labeling of the contents of the "bottle."

ZEPPELIN HAD VERY EXCITING JOURNEY

His Airship Was Driven by High Winds For Many Hours Before He Could Land. [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Munich, April 1.—The Zeppelin airship, with the count himself on board, was a plaything of the winds today and was swept helplessly over the country. It was out of control and drifting, with no hope of being able to make headway against the increasing wind. The wind was too high to attempt a landing for hours and soldiers in swift automobiles raced all over the country after the vessel in order to be on hand should a descent be attempted. At Dingolfing the airship landed safely at three this afternoon after having been eleven hours in the air.

SENATE DEFEATS THE COUNTY OPTION BILL

By a Vote of 17 to 12 They Indefinitely Dispose of the Marsh Measure. [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., April 1.—The senate was successfully defended as the poor man's club in a debate which engaged the Wisconsin senate all day yesterday and ended in the evening with a vote which killed the Marsh county option bill, 17 to 12, with four senators paired two and two for and against the bill. The measure provided for voting by counties on the question of whether or not saloons should be licensed within the county so voting. A referendum provision required the measure to be submitted to a vote of the state at large at the next general election before any county could operate under the law. So closely drawn were the lines upon this bill that it was made a special order for Wednesday morning, but the debate waxed so furious that it was after the supper hour before the vote was reached. The small senate chamber was crowded and overflowed by spectators and the senate held the afternoon session in the large new assembly chamber, which was filled both to floor and galleries with members of the legislature and interested outsiders. Senator Barker of Sparta, author of one of the county option bills introduced at this session, who withdrew his measure in favor of that offered by Senator Marsh of Neillsville, opened with an arraignment of the breweries and saloons for their domination of the politics of all the parties represented in the legislature. He was followed by Senator Page of Milwaukee, known as the leader of the saloon and brewery lobby, who substantially repeated the argument of Mayor David S. Rose of Milwaukee in the Rose-Dickie prohibition debate recently held there. The saloon side was closed by Senator Lohr of Appleton in a vigorous attack upon the churches for their opposition to the "poor man's club." Senator W. L. Gaylord of Milwaukee, the only social democratic senator, former preacher of the gospel, championed the saloon as a necessary institution, a place for working men to gather and organize and better their hard conditions. Senator Bird frankly admitted that the end sought was prohibition. Senator Marsh made an able argument reviewing familiar anti-saloon arguments and declaring that every time a saloon was destroyed it made for prosperity and human happiness.

ALVORD SOON TO BE FREE AGAIN

AFTER SERVING NINE YEARS IN SING SING PRISON. PRINCE OF DEFAULTERS

Mulcted the First Nat'l Bank of New York City of Three Quarters of a Million Dollars. [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] New York, April 1.—Within the next ten days or two weeks—the exact date has not yet been made known—the great doors of Sing Sing prison will swing open for the release of Cornelius L. Alvord, Jr., the shrewdest bank defaulter New York has ever known. Alvord stole three-quarters of a million dollars from the First National Bank of this city. In 1900 he was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment, which the regular ten allowance for good behavior has reduced.

The Alvord defaultation was in many respects the most sensational that Wall street has ever known. When the old First National Bank, noted for its conservatism, came out with a formal acknowledgment that it had been robbed of $750,000 by an humble and little-considered note-teller, New York financiers could hardly believe the report. But it proved to be true. Alvord—the most orderly person imaginable at the bank—was found to have been living a dual life. For months and even years as the evidence at the trial showed, he had been gambling at Saratoga so rashly as to attract the attention and administration of the old-timers at that noted resort. He had maintained in a trapper's name, a string of race horses of his own. He had owned motor boats and automobiles and had lived, in short, at an average of about $200 a day on a salary of $3,500 a year. To do this he had conscientiously and systematically robbed the bank for a period of about six years.

The exact way in which he stole was never thoroughly revealed by the bank officials. His speculations, they said, were skillfully concealed by clever manipulation of his "balance books." That was as near as they came to telling. The bank had a surplus from which the note good the losses, and the defaultation caused no embarrassment to the big institution.

It was on Oct. 23, 1900, when bank examiners appeared suddenly at the First National and introduced themselves to Alvord the note teller, who had enjoyed most unusual confidence and privileges at the bank. Mr. Alvord smilingly greeted them, then excused himself and left the bank. He was seen no more until arrested at Boston six days later by detectives of Captain McInnes's staff. He came back without resistance, smilingly admitting his guilt and was shortly afterward sent to prison.

At Sing Sing he had had a clerical position in the warden's office and has not had to mix up with the other prisoners. His wife, it is said, has visited him often, regardless of the rules that restrict visitors to other prisoners. He has even had special meals cooked for him by another prisoner assigned to the task, whom he is said to have paid $2 a week.

Upon his release Alvord is expected to return to his old home in the village of Stockport, to live. Mrs. Alvord has recently and built a cozy home in the hills near Stockport. The villagers hint that Alvord was wise enough to "plant" a considerable part of his defaultation, but this is doubted by the wife and other relatives of the man who is now soon to regain his freedom after nearly ten years spent behind prison walls.

BEST IN SCHOOL WERE SELECTED

AND AWARDED MEDALS FOR RHETORICAL WORK.

MISS FLORENCE WEBER

Miss Ruth Humphrey and George Yahn will represent school at contest at Evansville, April 15. Last evening in the high school auditorium the fourteenth annual medal contest for the Mabley, Loyley, Recorder and Loomis medals for poetry, orations, extemporaneous speaking and declamation, was held. A distinctive thing about this contest was the fact that three of the four medals were, namely, the Loyley for oratory, the Mabley for poetry and the Loomis medal for declamations, were carried off by members of the Sophomore class, the Recorder medal for extemporaneous speaking being awarded to Miss Wilma Jones of the Senior class. Three of the trophies were won by members of the fair sex. The contest was a very fine exhibition of the talent of the school in rhetorical lines.

The Awards. Superintendent H. C. Buell presided at the entertainment last evening and Rev. J. C. Hansen of this city, Miss Helen A. Horton, of Harbison, and Superintendent F. E. Converse of Beloit acted as judges. The prize poem was written by Mary Luedtke of the class of '10 and was entitled "A Storm in a Forest." Miss Vera Nohm was given honorable mention for her effusion. The other awards were: In oratory, George Yahn; extemporaneous speaking, Wilma Jones, first, with Will Hyde, and Katherine Jeffris tied for second place; and Miss Florence Weber was given first honors in declamations with Ruth Humphrey second, and Ethel Pond and Ada Finch tied for third place.

The opening number on the program was a selection by the high school orchestra of seven pieces and this was followed by the reading of the prize poem by Miss Luedtke. The language and style of the poem are excellent and the use of simile and metaphor is very effective in describing the subject. Five others besides Miss Luedtke sought to capture this medal.

George Reynolds' oration on "Burr's Address to the Jury," was well given, but lacked a few of the finishing touches in preparation to make an excellent oration. The topic was chosen from Dickens' "Pickwick Papers" and is the argument of the lawyer for a woman who sues "Pickwick" for breach of promise. The humor of the story was carried out in Reynolds' speaking.

The "Fall of Aaron Burr" by George Yahn was a brilliant piece of oratory and well merited the medal which Mr. Yahn received. His delivery is good and the modulations of the voice necessary are properly carried out. It was a brief sketch of Burr's life and told how Jack of "moral" character made his life a failure.

After a selection and encore given by the Senior Male quartette the extemporaneous speaking was taken up. The first speaker was Miss Katherine Jeffris, who drew the topic, "Roosevelt's Trip to Africa." Miss Jeffris told of the departure of the expedition in a very interesting manner. The next speaker was Miss Marion Hodgkiss. "The Consumption of Our Natural Resources" being her subject, her speech was good and dealt more with the aesthetic side of the question rather than the practical view. On "County Option or the Temperance Movement," Miss Wilma Jones spoke in a clear concise way, outlining the purposes of the bill for county option and showing alike the advantages and disadvantages of such a system. The principal point for it, as brought out by her, was that all the people of each county would not be taxed without representation. Against it was the fact that it would probably cause the so-called "blind pigs" to spring up, which would be a source of annoyance to the community. William Hyde's "Contrast of Roosevelt and Taft," outlined the points of resemblance and antithesis in the physical, intellectual and moral characteristics of both.

The Senior Male Quartette rendered the song "Church in the Wilderness" and responded to an encore. In all the lines of speaking in which they took part and in rhetorical work in general the young lady contestants for honors have shown their ability to compete on a level with the young men of the school. The declamations were no proof of their ability, and their nerve no criticism other than favorable to the showing they made. The hopes of the school to make a good showing in the meeting with the Evansville and Beloit speakers at Evansville on April 15 will no doubt be realized. Miss Weber's qualities as an orator, Miss Ruth Humphrey is also to be commended for the qualities shown in her declamation last evening. The efforts put forth by the others who competed were also very good. The tone modifications required in successfully reproducing each selection were skillfully accomplished. The order of the declamations was: "Christina Eve in a Mining Camp," Miss Ada Finch; "For the Mother's Sake," Florence Weber; "Cupid's Touchstone," Ottilie Horton; "The Cuban Revolution," Ruth Humphrey; "The Challenge," a selection from "The Sky Pilot," by Ralph Connor, Ethel Pond; "The Coming of the White Swan," Flora Jones.

The closing numbers of the program were a musical selection, "Poppycock," by Morey, by the orchestra, and then the decision of the judges and the awarding of the medals.

The judges' decision was very enthusiastically received by the crowd of high school students. The hall resounded with cheers and claps and school yells.

The young men of the Senior Male Quartette received quite an ovation at the entertainment last evening. The audience applauded their singing with a zeal and fervor which showed their appreciation of the music. The four young men who compose it are W. B. Tullman, Ronald Ains, George Reynolds and Will Hyde. The young ladies of the orchestra were also lauded for their work.

YOUNG PEOPLE HELD THE FINAL SESSION

District Rally of Young People's Societies of United Brethren Church Ended Last Evening.

The closing meeting of the district rally of the Young People's Societies of Southern Wisconsin, was held last evening in the parlors of the United Brethren church. The session in the United Brethren church, was held. A distinctive thing about this contest was the fact that three of the four medals were, namely, the Loyley for oratory, the Mabley for poetry and the Loomis medal for declamations, were carried off by members of the Sophomore class, the Recorder medal for extemporaneous speaking being awarded to Miss Wilma Jones of the Senior class. Three of the trophies were won by members of the fair sex. The contest was a very fine exhibition of the talent of the school in rhetorical lines.

At six o'clock last evening supper was served, to the forty young people from the surrounding towns, and this was followed by a "Round Table" gathering to discuss subjects of interest. The subjects dealt with were: "Making the Best Use of Our New Books," "Our Heroes," and "Our Foreign Missionary Enterprise," the latter subject being subdivided under "The Value and Influence of the Mission Study Class," and "What Some Churches Have Done and What Every Church Can Do." At half past seven a song service was held and at eight o'clock the final meeting began. The principal feature of this was a talk on "The Folds," illustrated with lantern views.

BAD FIRE ON RIVER STREET EARLY TODAY

Former Office Building of Spoon Coal Company Guttered by Flames at About Three O'Clock.

This morning about three o'clock the fire department received a call from Box 91 to extinguish a fire in the building owned by Spoon Coal Company on North River street, formerly used by the Spoon Coal company. The fire was being burning for some time when discovered by members of the night force of the Janesville Electric company and was blazing quite briskly when the wagons arrived on the scene. The origin of the blaze is unknown. Had the alarm been given earlier the damage would not have been as great. Before the flames could be subdued the building was pretty well burnt out and two wagons, a buggy, some barrels and hay and straw belonging to Herman Lechman were destroyed. The damage on the building will amount up to about a thousand dollars and Lechman's losses will be several hundred dollars.

Just to the south of the burnt structure are the machine shops of the Becknell Hardware company and when the flames were first discovered it was feared that they might spread to this building, but they were saved and were unharmed. The fire is the first that has been put out with chemicals since October last.

DISTINGUISHED CLAIRVOYANT

Mr. Wm. Keller, the Famous German Clairvoyant and Psychologist, Is Now in Janesville.

Mr. Keller astonishes people who call to test his occult powers—reads thoughts and tells past and future—insists upon giving satisfaction to his clients.

Without a doubt one of the greatest and most famous clairvoyants in the world today is Mr. Keller, the distinguished clairvoyant and psychic, who has just come to Janesville from Chicago.

The marvelous manifestations of his wonderful powers are as far superior to the ordinary palmist and fortune teller as the perfect automobile is to the wheelbarrow.

Those who come to seek any not remote to pray, but they go away with a puzzled look on their faces, wondering mightily. Perhaps you laugh at first when you see the rather peculiar methods used by the professor in telling a fortune, but when he commences to talk and pile up fact after fact, which you know to be true, even to the smallest detail, your laugh dies away, and you gaze in amazement at him as though he were some unearthly being from another world. You sit chained to the chair with fascination while your past and future are laid bare before you. After answering the final question you are perplexed and abstractedly draw forth your purse, throwing an inquiring glance at Mr. Keller. He smiles and asks you if you are satisfied, saying that he never accepts payment until assured that a person is perfectly satisfied and that he believes he has received fair return for his money.

Most assuredly the professor differs from other clairvoyants. You laugh, still rather confusedly, and like every one else, declare that you are glad to pay the small compensation asked. Many affirm no money value can be placed upon the good they have received.

The professor tells fortunes by astrology and clairvoyance. He is absolutely reliable and, realizing that merit brings reward when the rouding is over with, you do not have to pay unless you feel satisfied with what you have been told.

As for clairvoyance, it has both supporters and enemies. The theory of clairvoyance, however, is inseparable from a science that has so firmly impressed itself upon the public mind as to leave no doubt as to its truthfulness. Reference is made to mesmerism or hypnotic influence, which of late years has been demonstrated to be no virtue or occult force as one could well imagine.

Ladies and gentlemen can visit Mr. Keller without fear of having their confidence betrayed as he considers his business a sacred trust. Mr. Keller can be consulted daily at the New Myers hotel. Ladies' entrance, parlor floor (parlor C). Mrs. Keller receives all callers.

Hours, 5 a. m. to 8 p. m., daily; 10 to 4 Sundays. He positively will see no one after hours.

Readings, $1.00 and upwards.

His friends had called a doctor, but the man was dead before the physician arrived. There was some talk of holding an inquest but there was no evidence of violence and the doctor attributed his death to heart failure. The man was forty-four years of age and has lived in Beloit two years.

COUNTRY HIGHWAYS BEAT CITY STREETS

Use of King Drag in Green County Makes Roads Better Than Streets in Monroe.

Monroe, Wis., April 1.—Farmers in townships north and south of Monroe have been working the country highways with the King drag with the results that the Albany and Prospect roads for miles are as dry and smooth as the main traveled macadam streets in the city. Farmers traveling these roads in their trips to the city say the worse places of road they travel over are inside the city limits.

The use of the King drag in Green county promises to become a general business. It is considered in road improvement that can be accomplished with it as has been demonstrated by the work that has been done with it this spring.

Patrons of the Lathrop and Leigh Stock Co. Like the Roman Play.

"The Gypsy Queen," a tale of love, adventure and romance, that rivals the White abduction for interest, was presented by the Lathrop and Leigh Stock Company last night at the Myers and pleased a good sized audience.

Dark featured Egyptians, barbaric dresses and the strange tale of a noble's abducted daughter kept the attention of the audience from the opening curtain to the last words. Emilio Losange made a very interesting Carli and Charles Lamars and Grover Hays were the real thing in Romanay chas.

MAY HAVE ARGUED AN IMPORTANT CASE

Suit of Brown Versus Appleby Is Before the Supreme Court Today for Arguments.

If the supreme court was able to catch up with its schedule this case of Brown versus Appleby was heard this afternoon and the suit which is one of the most important that has gone up from Janesville in many years will be in the hands of a highest tribunal of the state for a decision. Attorney W. G. Wheeler represents the defendant, and the plaintiff is represented by Attorneys John Cunningham, Charles Pierce and F. C. Bursay. It is the outgrowth of the action of the fire and police commission electing George Appleby chief of police acting under a state law which refers to cities of the second and third class, however incorporated, and of the council's electing John Brown as city marshal, ignoring the state law on the grounds it did not refer to Janesville. The case was tried in the circuit court before Judge Orin, who gave a decision favoring Appleby, and was taken on appeal to the supreme court. Aside from directly affecting Janesville it will also affect other cities in the state having special charters.

The different divisions of the Freshman English classes held a contest in extemporaneous speaking yesterday afternoon in the assembly room. The subjects were all drawn from the ancient Greek myths. The following program was presented:

The Story of Prometheus and Medusa. Olivo Reynolds

The Explanation of the Picture. Agnes Meloy

The Story of the Origin of the Trojan War. Allison Burdick

The Story of the Golden Fleece. Grace Wilson

The Story of Ceres and Proserpina. Marion Weirick

Hercules in the Garden of Hesperides. Florence Davis

The Story of Pyramus and Thisbe. Margo McKewan

The Explanation of the Picture. Willie Brinker

The Story of Prometheus and Medusa. Robert Cunningham

Willie Brinker was unanimously given first place by the three judges, while honorable mention was accorded Robert Cunningham and Florence Crissey.

FRESH FISH FOR FRIDAY

Gal. Can Telmo Apples, 30c.

April 30, the anniversary of Washington's inauguration the logical date for inauguration from now on. George Washington taking the oath of office on April 30, 1789.

By HENDRICK.

Washington.—The date of inauguration must change, Uncle Joe Cannon says so. The weather man says so. Senator Dapow has already introduced a resolution, eight of the nine members on the committee of privileges and elections of the senate have declared in favor of a change. Residents of the District of Columbia say so. Hundreds of thousands of visitors in Washington during the recent severe storm while President Taft was taking his oath of office are up in arms for a new date. In fact the movement has assumed importance and is attracting attention from coast to coast.

Senator Lodge, who is an authority on constitutional law and history, says that the selection of March 4 was entirely a chance date in its inception. Some date had to be set and this was made as early as possible in order to get the new government in working order and the date set was March 4, Washington's term expired therefore just four years from March 4 and his successor took office on that date, so the accidental selection has become a part of our constitution.

In the early days of poor transportation and intercommunication between the sections of the country it is no wonder that the congressmen were delayed in their attendance to the first congress. It happened therefore that the date of inauguration was postponed from day to day waiters, and when they finally arrived a quorum of the people's representatives, and when they finally arrived it was April 30.

This date is especially worthy of commemoration in the annals of history. It occurred at a time of the year when the city of Washington was clothed with its spring dress. The presidential inauguration comes around in regular order.

Senator Davenport, who is a member of the committee, strongly favors the change of date, provided it can be fixed without lengthening the long session of congress. His suggestion is to fix the time for the beginning of the short session of congress about the first of January, after the holidays. This would save the country a large bill of expense in mileage to senators and representatives from Washington to their homes and back for the holiday vacation.

For 20 years and more efforts have been made in congress to enact legislation looking to the change in the constitutional date for inauguration of the president. The late Senator Hoar of Massachusetts and the representative Crane of Texas were only two of the sponsors for many bills introduced to change the date from March 4. Bills have been passed in one house and then in the other but never in both houses during the same session.

Many thousands of cases of bronchitis, pneumonia and kindred diseases throughout the country have had their origin in the exposure incident to travel to and from the capital of the people desirous of witnessing presidential inaugurations and in attending them.

From a table of the health department of the District of Columbia it appears that the average temperature for March 4 was 32.8 degrees, and for May 4, 63.70 degrees; that the average mortality for March from pneumonia was 83, while the average annual mortality from the same cause was only 42.

Popular sentiment demands a change of date, and while almost every day during the months of April and May have been considered at various times for the date of inauguration there is just one date which has an historical significance of unusual interest in connection with the inauguration of a new president, and that date is April 30, the anniversary of the inauguration of the first president of the United States.

This is the date—April 30—which is attracting general attention as most proper—first, for climatic reasons, and second, for historic considerations.

COUNTY OPTION

In the state senate yesterday afternoon the proposed county option law, introduced by Senator Marsh, was indefinitely postponed by a vote of 17 to 12. It needed but three votes to have been passed—had three of the opposing senators voted with the twelve who favored the measure.

It was what might be called a close shave for the liquor element. Every prospect possible was brought to bear on the senators to pass the measure and it would probably have passed the assembly with a referendum attached to it had the senate approved.

When the measure is considered carefully, when the vote is weighed and the sentiments expressed throughout the state by the petitions with forty thousand signatures, which favored the bill, thought over and the statement of Senator Marsh that the bill would be presented again at the next session, the liquor element will see clearly that they have not won such a striking victory after all.

The people of the state do not really approve the way in which the wholesale and retail liquor dealers conduct their business. The beer and whiskey men have escaped this time, but unless they mend their ways the next issue will be disastrous to their interests. They have been given a respite—not pardoned fully.

Right here in Janesville the question is a startling one. Liquor men who take out licenses violate the law. Keep open after hours; sell liquor on Sundays, and even sell to minors. The city attorney has demanded the council revoke the license of two saloons whose proprietors have violated the law and been convicted in court. Others just as guilty have escaped thus far, but it is to be hoped their time will come.

The liquor element are to blame for the sentiment of opposition that is expressed throughout the state against their business. They do not seek to control the members of the guild to the observance of the law and resent interference in what they consider their rights.

While the county option law is a dead letter at this season of the legislature, still two years from now the sentiment may be strong enough to pass it and then the breweries, the wholesale liquor dealers, will feel the weight of the iniquities of some of their members.

They have an opportunity to reform and each city should do what it can to aid in this reformation by wiping out the liquor dealers who openly defy the law and violate all rules of decency and order. No measure is too drastic for such people and the sooner the wet element find out the laws must be observed the better it will be for the city and for the state.

WHEELER'S APPOINTMENT

In the appointment of William G. Wheeler as Wisconsin legal representative for the Chicago and North-Western road gains by the selection of Mr. Wheeler, while Janesville is honored by having one of its chosen sons named, it really loses by the fact Mr. Wheeler must remove to Milwaukee to make his home. As attorney, as district attorney, as member of the legislature, and as United States District Attorney, Mr. Wheeler has made an enviable record and his selection as head of the legal interests of the North-Western road in Wisconsin comes as a justly deserved promotion. The Gazette extends its congratulations to Mr. Wheeler, but regrets the necessity that will take him from Janesville.

LOCAL POLITICS

One of the essential features of any election is to get out the stay-at-home voters. Republicans should not think that owing to the fact Mr. Carlo received his nomination by a handsome majority it will not be necessary for them to vote at the coming election. Every vote counts and they should all be out to name a business man for the office of Mayor of the city of Janesville.

Voters of the second ward are urged to cast their ballots for James Scott for alderman at the coming election. He is a strong man, a man interested in the advancement of the city, a man whose business in no way conflicts with the city ordinances or state laws and who is tied up to no entangling affiliations. Vote for him and the whole city will be better governed.

Over in the first ward there are two independent candidates for alderman, neither being placed upon the republican city ticket owing to the legal requirements. Mr. Evans and Mr. Drummond. The city commission named Mr. Evans as their choice for place in the republican column but the ruling of the attorney general was that neither name could appear on the ticket owing to the fact no vacancy existed at the time of the primary. Hence it will be an independent contest between the two men both of whom are considered good republicans.

The announcement of the candidacy of Edward Peterson in the fifth ward as an independent candidate for alderman will bring out the republican vote of the ward. Mr. Peterson is very popular and while he has a large democratic majority to overcome his chances at this time are the best and he should receive the support of the voters for the office he seeks.

Today is the first of April. Some people have been fooled but the weather man is trying to make up for past bad conduct by giving us fine weather.

Dr. Pembor, the republican candidate for alderman in the fourth ward is a man whom every tax payer in the city would rejoice in seeing named as alderman by the voters of his ward.

By Tuesday next the question of who will be Mayor will be practically decided but in order to clinch the election of Wilbur Carlo every good republican and progressive citizen should vote for him.

THE DEPTH OF THE WHEAT PIT.

This is the story of ex-Governor Taylor of Minnesota and the wheat pit.

Made an orphan at six years of age and thrown among strangers, Taylor had a hard struggle. He succeeded and in middle life was a prosperous farmer.

Having joined the "granger" movement, then at its climax, Taylor became prominent and was elected governor of the state. Honest, forceful, popular, he fought the corporations so strenuously they defeated him for reelection.

Whereupon the governor retired to his farm. Then some one whispered to him: "Buy wheat."

Taylor began to speculate on the Chicago board of trade. Winning and losing alternately, he stayed in town, neglecting his farm, watching the markets.

His bank account began to dwindle, and his live stock disappeared. Finally his farm was sold to provide margins. Soon everything was gone.

Old, broken and a pauper, his friends raised some money to place him in an old people's home, where he died, penniless and heartbroken.

Some one has well said that the Chicago wheat pit is only a few feet across, but it is as DEEP AS HELL. Once in the tolls of the market broker nothing less than bankruptcy will stop the victim of that sort of gambling.

He will sacrifice property, friends, family, everything. He watches the turn of fortune's wheel with the sure hope of him who never despairs. The phobia becomes a fever.

W. G. WHEELER IS NAMED ATTORNEY FOR WHOLE STATE

HONORED BY THE CHICAGO AND NORTHWESTERN ROAD.

SUCCEEDS E. M. HYZER

Resigns His Appointment as United States District Attorney—Will Move to Milwaukee.

William G. Wheeler has accepted the position as the Wisconsin legal representative for the Chicago and Northwestern railway system with headquarters in Milwaukee, succeeding Edward M. Hyzer who today became the head of the legal department of the entire Northwestern system.

Mr. Wheeler's resignation as United States District attorney to which office he was reappointed for a third term, was sent in late yesterday afternoon and the duties of his new office begin today although he will not assume direct charge of the company's office in Milwaukee until he closes up his local business.

Mr. Wheeler's appointment came as a surprise to his many friends in the city although many somewhat anticipated it when the announcement of Mr. Hyzer's promotion to the head of the road's legal department was announced.

The acceptance of the office will necessitate Mr. Wheeler's removal to Milwaukee which is the only regrettable feature of the affair and Janesville loses one of its foremost citizens and the Rock County bar one of its leading attorneys.

Mr. Wheeler is a typical Rock county resident having been born in the township of La Prairie on Nov. 11, 1861. His father, Captain, Guy Wheeler, being one of the pioneers of the county. Mr. Wheeler was educated at the Janesville high school and in 1881 began the study of law in the office of Winans and Fethers. He was admitted to the bar in 1884, serving for a short time as deputy in the clerk of the circuit courts office. Later he was elected to fill the office and served until 1887. In 1892 he formed the law firm of Dunwiddie, Goldin and Wheeler, the firm remaining the same until Mr. Goldin's election as clerk of the court in 1909, when it was Dunwiddie and Wheeler. From 1901 until 1905, Mr. Wheeler served as district attorney. On the elevation of the late Judge Dunwiddie to the circuit bench Mr. Wheeler continued to practice alone.

He was a member of the state legislature of 1897 and again in 1909, there he held important committee chairmanships. In 1901 he was appointed United States district attorney for western district of Wisconsin and again reappointed to the same office in 1905. His name for a third reappointment to the same office was pending before the Senate and would have been confirmed today had he not resigned.

Mr. Wheeler's last appointment as United States district attorney comes as a direct victory over the charges which were brought up by Senator La Follette. Investigation of the Attorney General's records in Washington, however, gave Mr. Wheeler a clean record and he was heartily recommended for reappointment by both the recent Attorney General Bonaparte and the present official, Mr. Wickorshaw. His name was sent in by Senator Stephenson and would have been confirmed.

Mr. Wheeler's new position carries with it a salary of ten thousand dollars a year and is one of the most important positions of the Northwestern road outside that of the general counsel, Mr. Hyzer. Mr. Wheeler will assume the duties of his new office at Janesville for the present, but will join her husband in Milwaukee before the summer is over.

APRIL WEATHER IS REPORTED AS FINE

Another Forecast of What to Expect During the Present Month of Rain.

Another weather prognosticator has come forward from Kansas City, and regarding the spring time weather has this to say:

The following estimates of temperature are based upon the positions of the seven principal planets. And although there are unknown planets, their effects known, but their positions unknown, whose positions might counteract some of these forecasts to a certain extent, yet for all practical purposes the following outlined average of weather can be safely counted upon. Because, even depending upon the positions of the seven principal planets alone, there is no radical change or series of changes of weather that could occur and make the general forecast of any season a failure.

April 1 to 15, average warm.

April 15 and 26, about the coldest days of the month and injurious to early vegetation in some localities.

April 14 to 20 will average cooler than April 1 to 13.

The temperature of the month will average much like that of last April.

The first half of May will be warm or than May, 1908. The latter half will average the cooler half of the month.

The month of June will average cool for June weather. It will be somewhat like June, 1907.

HOW EASTER DAY IS NOW DECIDED UPON

Method Used in Selecting Date For This Movable Church Feast Is That of Form.

The determination of Easter is the most important of the church year, as from this all other movable feasts are computed and this forms the cornerstone of the entire year. The date of Easter has been computed for many years ahead and a list of these dates can be found in various encyclopedias and year books.

Voltaire's dictionary gives the following explanation of the method of calculating the day: "Easter day, on which the rest of the movable feasts depend, is always the first Sunday after the fourteenth day of the calendar moon which falls on, or next after, the twenty-first of March, according to the rules laid down for the construction of the calendar; so that if the fourteenth day happens on a Sunday Easter day is the Sunday after."

This year the calendar moon happens the week preceding March 28, and fourteen days from March 28 to April 11.

Dates for Easter for the next ten years are as follows:

1909, April 11; 1910, March 27; 1911, April 16; 1912, April 7; 1913, March 23; 1914, April 12; 1915, April 4; 1916, April 23; 1917, April 8; 1918, March 31; 1919, April 29.

WILBUR C. HART ENDED HIS LIFE

WITH ILLUMINATING GAS AT HOTEL LONDON.

PROMINENT IN BUSINESS

Tidings a Shock to Entire Community—Was Harassed by Financial Cares and Worries.

While the state senate at Madison was taking the vote which defeated the proposed county option measure last evening, Wilbur C. Hart, equal partner with William M. Buoh in the Buoh Brothers Co., driven to hopelessness by this threatened legislation and kindred business and personal cares and worries, was quietly preparing to end his life at the Hotel London. He had been dead for several hours when, at nine o'clock this morning, Laura Vogel, a chambermaid, detected a strong odor of illuminating gas coming from Room 14 on the third floor, and Landlord William Lawyer forced the door in.

Words of Deep Regret: "A good friend of mine is lying there," said one of the group of city and county officials and business men who were quickly summoned to the scene and who gazed with sadness and awe at the lifeless figure that seemed to be peacefully slumbering in the bed. "He was a good friend of everybody," remarked another, and all recognized these words as their own unspoken comment and nodded quick assent. Chief of Police Appleby, Officer Patrick Manning, and District Attorney J. L. Fisher had been the first to arrive and Officer Manning believes that there was a trace of warmth in the body as he gently lifted the left hand. But it was plainly evident, even then, that the heart had ceased to beat, and Dr. W. A. Mann, who came a few minutes later, labored in vain to restore respiration.

Intestines Not Disguised: As it is banish any possible inference of accidental asphyxiation, which ordinarily would have been the certain conclusion of those who had known this quiet, even-tempered man in life, a new Iver-Johnson 32-caliber revolver, which had never been discharged but each chamber of which was loaded, had been left upon the bureau. Under it was a sheet of writing paper upon which the suicide had no doubt intended to place some message. But irresolution or inability, perhaps, to formulate just what he wished to say in this first intention, and the paper bore only this greeting and farewell:

"MY DEAR, DARLING WIFE—"

Nearby, on another sheet of the same stationery was a letter, likewise finished almost as soon as it had been begun, to his business partner, What he had written there was:

"FRIEND WILL—"

"OFTEN—"

A new box of stationery, some stamps, his collar and necktie, and a few other articles were scattered upon the dresser, and his coat and vest and trousers were neatly draped over a chair. His watch, about $5 in money, and a briar pipe which he had never carried until recently, were among the personal effects found in the pockets.

Wished to Be Alone

Mr. Hart had been away from his home at 509 South Main street for several nights. Mr. Buoh last saw him Monday evening and tried to reassure him regarding the projected county option legislation over which he seemed to be brooding. For some time recently he had been making connections efforts to keep his family and friends in ignorance regarding his earnings and going and one of the traveling company employees who made inquiries for him at the hotels was sharply reproved and told that he would lose his place if he persisted in that sort of thing. At the time the horse and rig were stolen from the company, he conducted a careful search of the surrounding countryside, alone, giving no one any inkling of his whereabouts for several days.

Retired Very Early

Tuesday night Mr. Hart stopped at the Hotel Myers. Between 4:30 and six o'clock last evening he entered the Hotel London and after he had treated some of his old friends at the bar, declared that he was feeling out of sorts and guessed he would lie down if he could secure an inside room where the noises of the street would not disturb him. Landlord Lawyer was away at the time and the bartender, John Joyce, called Laura Vogel and asked her to give him such a sleeping apartment as has been described. The chambermaid wrote Mr. Hart's name on the register and assigned him Room 14 on the third floor.

Was Fifty Years of Age

Wilbur C. Hart was born April 19, 1868, and has been in the fifty-first birthday. He moved from a farm in the town of La Prairie to the city during his early youth and in later times conducted the sample room at 14 East Milwaukee street of which Henry S. Thumetz is now the proprietor. He retired from the saloon business in 1905 and on July 1 of that year the partnership with William M. Buoh in the Buoh Brothers Co. was formed. The enterprise has prospered under the new management and the relations of the partners have been and are friendly. Indeed, there has never been any misunderstanding and no harsh word has ever passed between them.

Married May 18, 1899.

On May 18, 1939, Mr. Hart was married to Mrs. Myron Hart, widow of his deceased brother. The shock caused by her husband's untimely end, for some days past has been an anxious watcher at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Catherine Stokes, who is critically ill. The stepchildren who are left to mourn his loss are: Mrs. Joseph Murray, Mrs. Grace Heck, and Mrs. G. L. Burdick. The funeral will be held on Saturday afternoon and will be private. The interment will be at Emerald Grove.

Bought Gun at Pierson's: It was ascertained this afternoon that the revolver found in the Buoh Brothers Co. was bought at Pierson's gunshop on North Main street yesterday. Chief Appleby took temporary possession of the valuable diamond ring worn by the deceased. It is reported that Mr. Hart sought to obtain a room in one of the other hotels before going to the London but when he found that it was lighted with electricity, told the clerk he had changed his mind.

Marriage License: Application for a marriage license was filed at the courthouse today by John A. Cleveland and Alice H. Little, both of Janesville, and Fred De Groat of Broadhead pleaded guilty to drunkenness charges in municipal court this morning. Haycock was committed to the county jail for six days and De Groat was given a "dispass" back to Broadhead.

Recovering Slowly: George Rumbacher, aged seven, son of Mr. John Rumbacher, who resides at 339 Home Park avenue, is slowly recovering from an operation for appendicitis at Morey hospital. His mother who was with him until yesterday when she had a nervous collapse, is seriously ill at her home.

PRISON BURNED; MUCH EXCITEMENT

Military Convicts at Ft. Leavenworth in a Panic.

SOLDIERS PREVENT ESCAPES

March 800 Prisoners to Stockade at Point of Guns, Under Orders to Shoot Them Down—Loss May Reach $300,000.

Leavenworth, Kan., Apr. 1.—Fire late last night partially destroyed the military prison at Fort Leavenworth. The panic-stricken prisoners, under a heavy guard of United States troops, who had orders to kill any attempting to escape, were marched to a stockade in safety.

At two o'clock this morning some of the cellhouses had been cooled sufficiently to allow half of the 800 prisoners to return. The damage is estimated at $250,000 to $300,000.

No Escapes Yet Known.

None of the prisoners escaped, so far as a hasty resume of the situation after midnight showed.

Owing to the low water pressure the efforts of the fire department were almost useless. The fire was fought by the soldiers of the fort who were ordered out of their quarters and those who were on leave in the city were at once called back to the post.

Two soldiers were injured while fighting the flames, but none of the prisoners was hurt in any way.

Much excitement attended the removal of the prisoners, many of whom are desperate characters. It was feared that they would make an organized break for safety.

Prisoners Panic-Stricken.

The fire started in the tailor shop and soon it was seen that the main building was doomed. A great outcry at once broke out in the prison, the convicts fearing they would be burned to death. They battered on the doors of their cells as the light of the fire streamed in through the windows. Many screamed in terror as the authorities for the moment refused to remove them.

Soon, however, several companies of soldiers, including cavalry men, had gotten under arms. A strong cordon of troops was thrown about the prison and every precaution taken to prevent escapes. All the soldiers that could be spared from the ranks of fire fighters, were detailed as guards and then the delivery of the prisoners began.

When the bolts of the cellhouse doors were shot back, the flames had reached the main building. If everything had not been done in perfect order, lives doubtless would have been lost. As it was, strict military discipline prevailed.

March Out at Gun Points.

Soldiers with leveled weapons greeted the convicts as they were marched out. They had been previously warned that the slightest belligerent move would mean death.

"Shoot them down in their tracks," commanded the officers, "if they don't keep in line. The first man that tries to escape dies."

The rifle barrels of the soldiers and swords of the officers glinting in the flashlight with the knowledge that it was United States soldiers they were dealing with effectively averted the prisoners and they meekly followed their heavily-armed guards to the stockade.

Not only did the strict military rule prevent any escapes, but it effectively stopped the panic that had broken out among the convicts.

EX-CONGRESSMAN ARRESTED.

William D. Owen Faces Accusations in Mexican Deal.

Indianapolis, Ind., Apr. 1.—William D. Owen, whose arrest at Augusta, Ga., is reported, operated in Mexican Bonanza land schemes in which more than a million dollars was invested in small parcels of stocks taken mostly by small investors.

The most prominent of the companies which Owen headed were the Uvero Plantation Companies of Indiana and Boston. Four years ago these companies crashed. The government issued a fraud order against them charging Owen and F. E. Horgan with heading gigantic swindles. Horgan was arrested. Owen was in Europe and it has been supposed here that he had not returned to this country.

Owen and Horgan both were Indianapolis (Ind.) men. Owen was a Christian minister. He represented the Tenth Indiana district in congress being elected in 1885.

Taft at Admiral's Funeral. Washington, Apr. 1.—President Taft, Secretary Meyer, Assistant Secretary Whitson, Admiral Dewey and about fifty ranking officers of the United States navy yesterday afternoon attended the funeral service at St. John's Episcopal church of Rear Admiral (George A. Converse). With full military honors the body was laid to rest in Arlington cemetery.

LOCK FOR UMBRELLA

Holder Basks Thieves at Restaurants and Other Public Places.

At last the umbrella thief has met his Waterloo. The holder of restaurants and other public places are safe from his depredations, and a peace may leave his umbrella in a safe without taking any more chances that if he left it at home—if as many. A Pennsylvania man has invented a holder which makes this sense of security possible, as the holder locks and only the man who has the key can open it. This holder consists of an upright rod, from which projects two revolving boards, as shown in the cut, each hollowed out to receive the umbrella. Across the front of the upper revoler, however, is a locking member and after the umbrella is placed within this member is closed and locked, making it impossible to remove the rain protector until it is unlocked again. It is not requisite, for security, to devise a method for punishing the return of umbrellas lost to parties who come unprepared and meet a scolding on their departure.

VEGETABLE GRATER

Grinds Potatoes, Turnips, Etc., into Small Particles.

It is really surprising what a large proportion of household are designed for use in that small but always important room, the kitchen. One of the most useful of these is the vegetable grater designed by an Ohio man. With it vegetables or meat can be ground into fine particles by the expenditure of very little energy. This machine is made on the principle of a mill, and is clamped to the edge of a table. A hopper leads to a cylinder, in which a cylinder revolves, and below which is a chute. The cylinder, which is turned by means of a handle, is nearly as large as the casing, and is fitted with two sets of teeth, inclined in opposite directions. One set is closer than the other, and when the cylinder is turned in one direction it grinds the great smaller than when turned the other way. The vegetables or meat to be ground are placed in the hopper, and as they fall into the receptacle below the cylinder crushes them, the small pieces falling into a dish placed below.

When Whistler Scored.

A patronizing young lord was sent opposite to the late James McNeill Whistler at dinner one evening. During a lull in the conversation he adjusted his monocle and leaned forward toward the artist. "Aw, y' know, Mr. Whistler," he drawled, "I phoned your house this morning. 'Thank you,' said Whistler quietly. 'Thank you very much.'"

Curious French Law.

PRIEST IS NOW A BANKRUPT

Cleveland Pastor Is in Debt $1,594,141.84.

HIS ASSETS ONLY $75,207

Father McMahon, Editor of the Catholic Universe, Caught by Failure of Kieran's Fidelity Funding Company Files Petition in Court.

Cleveland, O., Apr. 1.—Scheduling liabilities of $1,594,141.84 and assets of $75,207.08, Rev. Father William McMahon, pastor of St. Bridget's church, Cleveland, and editor of the Catholic Universe, has filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States court.

The secured claims amount to $946,925.73; unsecured claims, $371,207.91, and commercial paper, $185,915.

Father McMahon was a director of the Fidelity Funding Company of New York, founded by P. J. Kieran, and which now is in the hands of receivers. Thus it came about that his name was signed to many of the papers issued by the company and for which he now is held liable by the receivers.

Signs Many Big Notes.

The petition enumerates many notes signed by Father McMahon. They are held mostly by New York, Pittsburgh and Cleveland banks. Among the larger secured claims cited are the following: Carnegie Trust Company, New York, $281,255.73; Guarantee Title & Trust Company, Pittsburgh, $185,000; Society for Savings, Cleveland, $235,000; Third National bank of Buffalo, $3,200.

Included in the secured claims as filed by the petitioner are liabilities held by almost every banking institution of prominence in the city of Cleveland and similar institutions in Boston, New York, Pittsburgh, Syracuse and Buffalo.

The dates on many of these notes are not given but the petitioner admits his responsibility both as maker and indorser and includes them in his inventory of legal liabilities.

Creates Little Surprise.

The filing of the petition by Attorney J. W. Surphon was not entirely a surprise either in financial circles here or to the parishioners of St. Bridget's who had known for some time past that the financial affairs of Father McMahon were in a badly entangled state owing to his connection with the Kieran enterprises.

Late in 1905 Father McMahon came first into close contact with Kieran. The latter was then the moving spirit in the Reliance Life Insurance Company and the Fidelity Insurance Company, both of which were operated from Buffalo. The priest borrowed a small amount of money in 1905 from Kieran, who is said to have offered him a lower rate of interest than that charged by other companies engaged in a similar line of business.

The friendship between the priest and the financier grew to such an extent that the former signed or indorsed the notes which now are held against him and at the time of the failure of the Fidelity Funding Company was one of the board of directors. When the Kieran crash came in December last, Father McMahon's dealings were supposed to extend only to the reorganization of the Euclid Avenue Trust Company of Cleveland in which he signed notes for about $35,000. His assets were then said not to exceed $20,000.

Church Property Not Involved.

It was announced authoritatively from a priest closely identified with the affairs of the Cleveland diocese that the liability set forth in the petition in voluntary bankruptcy made by Father McMahon is personal and that the Catholic church property is not involved in a way that the church can lose.

The title to all Catholic church property, it was explained, in all parts of the world, is vested in the archbishop of the diocese in which it is located and mortgages must be sanctioned by the prelate in charge.

It was after Kieran had explained to Father McMahon that it was his purpose to make the Fidelity Funding Company the chief financial agent of the Catholic church in the matter of loans and mortgages that the priest became involved. J. P. Madigan, at that time and still county treasurer, also was drawn into the Kieran financial schemes and signed several notes on the strength of the latter's representations.

FLOOD FAILS BUT FIRE WINS.

Birds Point, Mo., Once Saved from Water, Destroyed by Flames.

Calro, Ill., Apr. 1.—The town of Birds Point, Mo., which was nearly destroyed by the cutting of the Mississippi river bank a few months ago, was wiped out by fire yesterday.

The hotel, several store buildings and a number of residences were destroyed.

Wounded Woman Still in Jail.

Washington, Ind., Apr. 1.—Mrs. Zella String, the woman who was shot while attempting to pick up the supposed box of currency in the plot to extort $30,000 from Banker Read, is still confined in jail. There is little doubt but that she will recover. James Sparks, the alleged accomplice, will have a hearing to-day.

The single eyeglass is worn by the dodo. The theory is that he can see more with one eye than he can comprehend.—United Presbyterian.

Life's Setting Sun.
Blessed retirement, friend to life's decline.—Goldsmith.

A Clean Man

Outside cleanliness is less than half the battle. A man may scrub himself a dozen times a day, and still be unclean. Good health means cleanliness not only outside, but inside. It means a clean stomach, clean bowels, clean blood, a clean liver, and new, clean, healthy tissues. The man who is clean, in this way, will look it and act it. He will work with energy, and think clean, clear, healthy thoughts.

He will never be troubled with liver, lung, stomach or blood disorders. Dyspepsia and indigestion originate in unclean stomachs. Blood diseases are found where there is unclean blood. Consumption and bronchitis mean unclean lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

prevents these diseases. It makes a man's insides clean and healthy. It cleans the digestive organs, makes pure, clean blood, and clean, healthy flesh.

It restores tone to the nervous system, and cures nervous exhaustion and prostration. It contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. Constipation is the most unclean uncleanness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it. They never gripe. Easy to take as candy.

Come to our store and get a sample of Chi-Namel, applied to wood. Take it home and test it.

First, Strike the wood sample a heavy blow with a hammer, and note that while the wood may be indented a quarter of an inch, the varnish has not cracked. This proves that Chi-Namel is very elastic.

Second, Place the wood sample in a tea kettle, and note that boiling water does not turn it white. This proves that Chi-Namel contains no resin.

Third, Apply whiskey. This proves that Chi-Namel will stand upon bar tops.

Fourth, Allow a can of the varnish to stand open over night, and note that there is no evaporation. This proves that Chi-Namel contains no benzine.

Fifth, Spread varnish over flat surface, and brush in every direction, and note "self levelling" effect. This proves that all brush marks disappear, and the result will be pleasing no matter how inexperienced the applicator may be.

Old floors can be made to look like new hard wood.

No need to buy new furniture.

Chi-Namel will make old furniture look BETTER than new furniture.

Take no substitutes. We invite you to prove to yourself there is NOTHING just as good as Chi-Namel.

1,000,000 RATS ARE KILLED.

Extermination of Rodents Frees Frisco of Bubonic Plague.

Washington, Apr. 1.—The story of the long, hard fought campaign to rid San Francisco of its recent epidemic of the bubonic plague is told in an interesting report made public by the marine hospital service. The disease was spread by a certain breed of flea that infected the rats, which in turn carried the plague broadcast.

Approximately 1,000,000 rodents were slain in the effort to wipe out the plague. Nearly 100,000 rats were examined, and of this number more than 300 carried fleas infected with the disease.

San Francisco, Apr. 1.—San Francisco celebrated officially the close of its campaign against bubonic plague last night by giving a public dinner to Dr. Rupert Blue of the United States marine hospital service and his corps of executive officers.

ENDS INDIANA RIOTS.

Departure of Hungarians from Jansville Mine Brings Peace.

Terre Haute, Ind., Apr. 1.—The Jansville race riot, which began at the Jansville mine, appears to be at an end. The last of the Hungarians left the town yesterday, leaving their property behind them. They came here and were in conference with attorneys yesterday. Many of them are naturalized citizens and own their own property.

Dynamiting was feared, and the mine property and the settlement were patrolled all night.

The Hungarians had made their threats, but the cooler heads counseled law instead of violence, and they prevailed.

A small shift went to work at the mine in the morning with armed men on guard.

I expected opposition, but not such a wild storm of curses and execrations as greeted these words. All sense of discipline vanished, even De Nova joining in the outcry. I remained planted across the box, waiting for the badman to cease, uncertain how I had best attempt to restore them to their senses. Cole decided the matter by rushing forward like an enraged bull, throwing me aside with a heave of his shoulder, the next instant burying his hands in the coils. That the fellow was out of his head was evident enough—and as a March hare—but I could not hesitate because of that. Those others were on the verge; all they needed for open revolt was leadership, example, and I caught up a chair and laid the blubbery negro on the deck, pieces of eight flying in every direction as he fell.

"Unless it's a fight you want, stand back, the whole of you!" I threatened, the broken chair still in my hands. "We may be able to take this chest, or a part of it, with us, but there is going to be no more digging done down below. De Nova who are you with in this row—the mor or mo?"

"By gar, it makes me mad to give up all zat monies."

"Well, get mad! You'll have to give it up just the same. Don't be a fool, man. You can see this for yourself; you're a sailor! It would require a year to tunnel through that sea with the tools we've got, and look at the hull under us. Why, you can see the list of the deck even here in the cabin, and the feel of her when she drops in to a hollow is enough to make a seaman sick. Which is worth most, mate, those yellow boys or the little girl yonder?"

He looked at Coleste, white-faced, the tears staining her cheeks, her eyes glowing like two coals, and all the fierce passion of resistance seemed to desert his countenance. His glance dropped to the deck, returning to my face.

"My gar, if you put it zat way, mon-sieur, zen I choose the lady, sure. But ze sing I want is both of 'em."

"No doubt; but you have sense enough to realize that you can't have both. So I count you with me. Now, how about you, Johnson?"

The big, hairy seaman, sober-faced and grave-eyed, glanced about on his mates and straightened up.

"I'm here to obey orders, sir," he said slowly.

"I've allers been poor, an' I reckon the Lord don't mean me to ever get rich."

I held out my hand, deeply touched by the sterling honesty of the reply.

"You've got something worth more than money, Bill, and that's manhood. You stand the acid. Shake hands, mate."

He responded awkwardly enough, having received more cuffs than praise during his rough sea life, yet the expression in the mild blue eyes gave me confidence that I had touched the right chord. I surveyed the others—McKnight leaning on the cleaver, red-faced and scowling; Sanchez, Kelly and Dado back of him, the negro still growling on the deck.

"Dado, come here." The fellow shuffled over toward me, as apologetic as a jelly-fish. "Now, Kelly, you and Sanchez lay Cole out in a bunk and dress his head. All he needs is a bandage and plenty of cold water. When you get done with that job come on deck and I'll find you another. McKnight, drop that cleaver an' come along with us."

"They did not like it; but with De Nova, Johnson and Dado standing behind me, they realized the uselessness of revolt. Their hesitation and growling curses irritated me none the less. "Jump, you fellows, unless you want the same medicine Cole just took."

The two men lifted the negro in their arms and bore him back to one of the state-rooms aft. Kelly came out again and returned with a pannikin of water. I bent down and closed the lid of the chest. The live of us tramped out on deck.

"Unless it's a fight you want, stand back, the whole of you!"

"Back, the whole of you!"

It was, indeed, a rare day for that season of the year and in that ocean, the sky overhead pale blue and cloudless, the wide sea stirred merrily by the gentlest swell, the slight breeze steady, and barely firm enough to hold the rotten canvas stiff. There was even sufficient heat in the sun's rays to moisten the lee along the docks where the chill of the wind did not strike, and the sweep of the horizon extended farther than we had seen for weeks. The beauty of the day would have put new heart and life into all of us but for the miserable wreck underfoot. The very glare of the sunlight seemed to reveal with new vividness how close the end was. Light as the sea ran, the lee-laden bow of the Donna Isabel ploughed deeply under, every crest bursting in white, foam through the break in the port bulwarks, the flat in the deck so steep we made our way forward with difficulty along the slippery surface. Our rate of progress had become so slow as to leave only the barest ripple in the wake. Clamoring over into the fore-chalupa I pointed out to the men how the sea was encroaching on the bulging side. They stared at the evidence gravely, each comprehending clearly the dread meaning, yet no one spoke for a minute.

"I reckon you was right, sir," admitted Johnson, shuddering. "The old hooker is goin' down."

De Nova peered along the slippery deck, gleaming in the sun, moodily, but said nothing until he looked up and caught my eye.

"What you do, mon-sieur?"

"I mean to hold on as long as I is safe," I replied, "because the cabin gives shelter to the women. We all know what the open boat means, and we'll put that off until the last possible moment. We are not making much progress, it's true; but still, every mile helps, and if this weather will only hold, the wreck may keep afloat for several days yet, but we'll get everything fixed for a quick departure."

Kelly and Sanchez appeared in the cabin door, and I called to them to join us.

"Now, lad, let's make use of what daylight we've got left. This weather is likely to change any minute. Three of you lower that jib, and get out the canvas belonging to the long-boat. Piece the jib up with any old stuff you can find that will stand a light wind. De Nova, you take charge of that job. Dado, you'd better run back to the tiller, and hold her steady as the jib comes down. Johnson and I will see that the long-boat is sound, stocked, and ready for launching."

We made a thorough job of it, overhauling the boat from stem to stern, and ending by rigging up block and tackle for hoisting her, when loaded, over the bulwarks. We lashed the Donna Isabel's helm again, and dispatched Dado into the cabin after supplies. The greater portion of the stores brought from the Sea Queen, more especially the canned goods, remained intact, and we packed these away snugly in the stern lockers, adding whatever we could find that remained outable among the frozen stores in the lazarette. Altogether we thus amassed a sufficient supply. We rolled up all the extra blankets, showing them under the seats, and saw that serviceable spars and oars were safely stowed and lashed. It was growing dusk before these matters had all been attended to, and I finally stepped out of the boat. The men were massed in a body on the deck, and the moment I saw them I understood they had been discussing the situation. De Nova spoke:

"Mon-sieur," he questioned, "how much in American money would be in zat chest?"

"I don't know, of course, but just for a guess, perhaps $100,000—maybe more."

"An' zat be only ze ten of us. To divide it up make, maybe, ten thousand dollar for each. Was it not so?"

"Why, yes, or even more than that, for I will cheerfully waive my share, and can pledge that Lady Darlington will do the same. But what of it?"

"Zat fine lot monies for sailor-men," he said, eagerly. "An' w'y not have it? Anyhow, w'y not try to save it? Ze long-boat is built to hold 25 peoples, an' we only ten. Zen, w'y not take ze gold? It eat nothin', it drink nothin', an' if it weight too much, zen we throw it overboard. But w'y not try carry it, ze hundred thousand dollar?"

There was no good reason why we shouldn't; besides, the very possibility of preserving even that share of the treasure would prove an inspiration to the men. I looked about into their anxious faces, feeling myself some measure of their excitement.

"That will be all right, lads," I said gladly. "You've earned it fair enough, and we'll start with it anyhow. Take the stuff out of the chest and tie it up in blankets. Then we can stow it away evenly so as to keep the boat balanced. But," I added, as the memory of what Dado had said came to me, "I think it only fair to tell you that I'm sure there is bad luck in every peso of it."

The men gave my creaking prophecy no second thought, but went trotting off, chattering together like a parcel of boys.

"There is more Calumet in this section of the country than all other districts put together, and until the last few years was the most productive of the world. For many years the district produced a local currency and presented local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, it became incurable. Science has proven that it is a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. The Calumet Cure, manufactured by J. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful.
